

MEDIA ADVISORY – United Way ‘Day of Caring’

Event: United Way Capital Area “Day of Caring”

Date: Friday, April 25, 2008

Time: Kick-off Celebration @ 9:00 a.m.

Volunteer projects 10:00 a.m. – 2:00 p.m.

Place: Alamo Park (2100 Alamo, one-mile east of I-35, between Manor and MLK Jr. Blvd.)

Volunteer projects take place across the city at various nonprofit organizations

In celebration of National Volunteer Week, approximately 350 volunteers will donate their time and talents on April 25 to benefit thousands of Central Texans during the United Way Capital Area Day of Caring. Volunteers will work at project sites throughout Austin, helping a couple dozen nonprofits in the process.

Join us for the Kick-off Event at the Alamo Park (2100 Alamo St., east Austin) where volunteers will get “fired up” about their projects, and learn how their efforts will make a huge impact on the greater Austin community. They will then spread across the city as they tackle their volunteer projects and make Central Texas that much of a better place to live.

For more information about United Way Capital Area and Day of Caring, contact Andy Buck at andy.buck@unitedwaycapitalarea.org, or 512-472-6267, Ext. 235.

###